Rhode Island Land Evidences

VOLUME I
1648-1696

ABSTRACTS

PROVIDENCE:
1921

PREFACE

1149683

In Rhode Island, the land records are kept by the various towns and not by the counties, as in Massachusetts. This has always been true of this State, even when for a time the Colony government kept a record of land transfers.

There are now in the office of the Secretary of State, four ancient volumes called Rhode Island Land Evidence. They contain a great variety of deeds, a very few of Providence, many from Newport and many from the various parts of South County—some, such as Roger Williams' deed to Richard Smith, from territory where there was no town government at all.

The deeds are not arranged chronologically and often early deeds are recorded with later instruments relating to the same piece of land, apparently to strengthen the title. Probate and other legal records are also contained in these books.

Two other volumes of early colonial records, the "Rhode Island Colony Record, 1646-1669," and the "Records of the Island of Rhode Island, 1639-1646," also contain land evidences.

Although a few of these deeds have been printed in full and in abstract, the mass of this material has been available for study only at great cost of time and effort. Over a year ago the group of gentlemen, whose names follow, determined to do something towards bringing these deeds before students and historians in a reasonably convenient form:

EDWIN A. BURLINGAME

NORMAN M. ISHAM

FREDERICK D. CARR

CHARLES D. KIMBALL

WILLIAM C. DART

WALTER H. KIMBALL

WILLIAM C. GREENE

HOWARD W. PRESTON

HENRY D. SHARPE

Typed - 750

These gentlemen contributed the funds for abstracting the records in the first volume of Land Evidence.

This work was done by Miss Dorothy Worthington.

Miss Worthington's manuscript was turned over to the Rhode Island Historical Society for publication, the cost of which has been paid for out of the "Special fund" contributed by:

R. LIVINGSTON BEECKMAN	FRANK W. MATTESON
H. MARTIN BROWN	JESSE H. METCALF
ALFRED M. COATS	STEPHEN O. METCALF
SAMUEL P. COLT	PAUL C. NICHOLSON
CHARLES J. DAVOL	SAMUEL M. NICHOLSON
MICHAEL DOOLEY	FREDERICK S. PECK
MRS. ROBERT H. I. GAMMELL	MRS. FRANK A. SAYLES
WILLIAM GAMMELL	HENRY D. SHARPE
MRS. C. OLIVER ISELIN	GEORGE L. SHEPLEY
CHARLES D. KIMBALL	ROBERT W. TAFT
WEBSTER KNIGHT	WILLIAM A. VIAL
HENRY F. LIPPITT	JOHN CARTER BROWN WOODS

The book which the Society now publishes is the oldest of these four books of Land Evidences. It consists of 445 pages, each about $7\frac{1}{2}$ by $11\frac{1}{2}$ inches, the writing upon which is enclosed, at the top and on both sides, with an ink border line which may possibly once have crossed the bottom also. The rectangle of manuscript is $6\frac{1}{16}$ by $11\frac{1}{4}$ inches. The paper has a water mark, an urn with an elaborate finial ending at the top in a crescent.

There is no ancient title now to be seen, as the old fly leaves have disappeared.

The old binding also has perished and the book has been rebound, with the following title on the back:

RHODE-ISLAND

A hie way layd up from the Mill to Joseph Clarkes and soe on the fore side of those lands downe to the Comon beyond mr Barkers that on the east side of the Brooke being about 20 pole at the North end thereof Cross the way from the Mill at the end of mr Brentons mens lotts and between Captn. Clarkes land now in the posession of Goodm Weaver went the hie way towards the great Comons, and by the side of mr John Clarkes Joseph and Thomas Clarkes lands &c being on the east side thereof went the hie way of six poles broad to mr Eastons Farme, and from that layd out to John Anthony on the south and John Lawton on the North went downe and was laid out a highway of six poles broad downe to Stony River to meet with that way on the West ends of mr Barkers lands and soe came into the Comons at the Rocks and from that way was layd out to each neck and meadows and beach.

There was a way alsoe layd out on the east side of Greenmans land that butted upon the Penfold Richardson lying on the other side wch way was to goe to the Penfold being layd out to mr Brenton

A hie way lickwise to goe up on the northe side of the layd to Andrews which way went to the Hermitage and these lands.

thereabouts from out of which way went downe to the high way to mr Hutchinsons Lands but for which hieways was appointed and layd to the lands about & adjoyninge to Sachuis brook.....refer.....to Record of lands in these parts layd out by mr Robert Jeffereys, whose fenceings were appointed by mr Jeffereys Captn Clarke and my selfe.....I doe declare in my observation two or three impedimts

First mr Coddington in that his way that goes to the Artillery Garden & buryinge place he hath sett neer sixty pole of Fencing upon the hie way six foot at least at the North end 2ly Richard Tew hath not only turned the part of the hie way out of his proper place but hath incrocht upon and inclosed upon thre rod of the way and halfe a pole upon part of the rest. Lett them therefore that knowes any injury in this kinde put it downe.....soe shall wee avoyd hipocrisy dissemulation, bark biteinge and secrett wolveish devoveringe one of another,.....lett all that love the light come forth to the light and show their Deeds soe saith
